What is a cookie?

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your computer or mobile device when you visit a website. Cookies are commonly deployed to remember user preferences, tailor content to user interests and/or track user journeys for future analysis, e.g. to optimise website features based on historical visitor trends.

What the law says:

The law states that we can store cookies on your device (without consent) if they are strictly necessary for the operation of our website. For all other types of cookies we need your permission. In accordance with GDPR guidelines, we will only download non-essential cookies to your device after you give us permission to do so.

Cookies our site uses:

We use 4 types of cookies on this site:

- Essential: necessary for quoting and checkout processes to function.
- Improved User Experience: enables us to optimise our website based on historical visitor trends.
- Online Chat: Allows live interaction with a sales agent.
- YouTube Videos: allows embedded video content to display.

Editing privacy settings:

You can choose which cookies you allow to download onto your device anytime by clicking the 'Privacy Setting' link on the right-hand side of the blue bar at the top of your screen.
